COMMERCIAL INTELLIGENCE

TUESDAY EVENING, Nov. 11.

REUTER quotes rates of discount in London unaltered, but Consols are ⅛ lower at 100½, Indian loans unchanged.

The London General Produce markets are unaltered.

The improvement in the Liverpool Cotton market strengthened no doubt by the prospects of a pacific settlement of the Franco-Chinese dispute, continues to gain ground, the tone at the close yesterday being reported strong, and the day's sales estimated at 15,000 bales, including 2,000 Surats. Spot prices show an advance of 1-16d. per lb. in American, and good ginned Broach and Americans to arrive are quoted 3-64d. to 1-16d. higher. In New York ready Mid-uplands have advanced from 9 15-16 to 10 cents, and March shipment from 10·41 to 10·48 cents per lb. The receipts at the U. S. ports to date give the following comparisons :—

	1884	1883	1882
Two days' receipts	49,000	57,000	52,000
Three days' do.	81,000	91,000	91,000
Total since 1st Sept	1,743,000	1,816,000	1,763,000

Cotton here to-day has again shown considerable firmness, and for new crops there are buyers but no sellers at a further advance of Rs. 1 to Rs. 2 per candy, the following being now the ruling rates :—

Good Broach, March	Rs.	213
Ooura do.	,,	185
,, Bengal, Dec.	,,	147
,, Bhownuggur, April	,,	185

That these quotations are a long way above home prices may be seen from the fact that Reuter reports business in Fine Broach, February-March shipment, Canal, at 5d. delivered terms, equivalent to about Rs. 210 without commission, as compared with Rs. 213 here for good. The feeling here, however, especially amongst native dealers, is decidedly in favour of higher prices as the season goes on, and anything like continuance business therefore will probably be seldom practicable until Cotton is actually coming forward in quantity, which will not be till well on in the new year.

In old Cotton on the spot some business is doing from day to day. We hear of transactions in Bhownuggur strict F. G. F. at Rs. 174 to Rs. 175, but for well up good Rs. 183 could be got. Good Westerns have been done at Rs. 169 per candy.

In SEEDS and WHEAT there is no change to report, and business is slack.

FREIGHTS are dull to a degree. For Liverpool cargo is not obtainable in any quantity at 10s., and Continental ports are quite nominal at 16s. 3d.. to 17s. 6d. per ton. Forward steamers are offering for January-February loading at 22s. 6d., without leading to business.

IMPORTS.—Piece-goods are quiet but firm. The upward turn in Cotton is causing sellers to be a little less anxious to quit their stocks, at the same time the up-country demand drags rather. Coals are in strong request, and with nothing offering to arrive, consumers have now had to turn their attention to stocks on the bunder, from which we hear of sales at Rs. 18½ for Davisons and Rs. 18 for Cardiff.

EXCHANGE has been quiet and rather tending easier to-day, but no actual change in rates has taken place, and Calcutta telegrams also report no change there. Bar Silver in London is quoted ½d. lower at 50½d. per oz., but even at that it is still above exchange, the rupee laying down at fully 1s. 7 3-16d. For ready bills we quote :—

Bank Bills on demand	1s. 7¾d.	per rupee.
Do. Telegraphic	1s. 7 1-16d.	,,
Three months' sight	1s. 7 5-16d.	,,
Credits do. do. do.	1s. 7 7-16d.	,,
Francs do. do. do.	2·05	,,

GOVERNMENT PAPER to-day has been in better request again, and Fours have advanced to Rs. 99½ buyers. Fours-and-a-half are up to Rs. 102½.

SHARES.—The more hopeful tone of the telegrams regarding China have again strengthened mill shares, which may be generally called Rs. 10 higher. Berar Press shares are up to Rs. 602½. Cash Bazaar have declined to Rs. 70.

DEFECTIVE OR FAILING SIGHT.

THE sense of sight is so valuable that the importance of perfect and carefully adjusted spectacles can scarcely be overrated; although the wearing of single eye-glasses should be strictly avoided, we have the highest medical authority, confirmed by daily experience, that imperfect glasses, together with the haphazard plan of selection generally employed, are frequent causes of irremediable injury to the sight; and as no present economy can compensate for such a loss, it behoves all to be cautious how they are tempted to use the common pebble or glass spectacles now so generally sold.

For the guidance of those who are using pebble spectacles, it may be stated that when the pebbles are cut against the grain, and not polished on the principle which has been universally declared the most appropriate based on scientific research, they are injurious to the sight.

Unadvisable as the unnecessary wearing of spectacles undoubtedly is, the common notion that their use should be postponed to the utmost is proved beyond dispute to be a grave mistake.

Being in possession of all the optical instruments taken over by us from Dr. A. Menist, we are not only in a position to suit the eye sight to perfection, but to supply different accommodations for each eye which so frequently are needed.

The Bombay Gazette

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 12, 1884.

THE only important speech at the Mansion House Banquet on Monday—that of Earl Granville—confirmed the report that was current a few days since of the willingness of the Government to mediate between France and China. Since, however, it appears that direct negotiations for peace are being carried on between the two Governments, the mediatorial offices of England are likely to be made use of only in the event of a failure of the belligerents to come to terms. The fact that the English Government are standing by, ready to come forward in the capacity of amicus curiæ should the occasion arise, ought to have an accelerating effect upon the negotiations. The news that was telegraphed from London yesterday, that France has consented to forego the indemnity that she has claimed from China, is in part borne out by our Colombo telegram, which, referring of course to the position of affairs a fortnight ago, intimates that the French are anxious to obtain a fifty years' lease of the island of Formosa, in lieu of a pecuniary indemnity. There is a strong appearance of probability in this account of the matter. The course of French policy and of French strategy since the operations against China began to cover a wider field than Tongking would be inexplicable except on the theory that the acquisition of Formosa had a prominent place in M. Ferry's programme. Everybody recognized from the first that if the object was to bring the Chinese Government to its knees —to obtain satisfaction for the affair of Langson —an attack upon Formosa, or even an occupation of the island, was as ill-adapted to that end as any plan of operations could possibly be. The Chinese Government have been as little affected by Admiral Courbet's attack upon Kelung as if they had been ensconced in the pleasant security of Olympus. The transfer of the French squadron from Foochow to Kelung, when it was seen that the destruction of the Arsenal in the former place had made no impression at Pekin, showed plainly enough that it was not "satisfaction" alone that M. Ferry wanted, but something to show for the large outlay in men and money that France had made in the Farther East. As for a fifty years' occupation of Formosa, it would be a poor compliment to the statesmen of the French Republic in 1930 or thereabouts to think that they would find difficulty in converting a leasehold interest in the island into the fee simple —that is, assuming that they did not find Formosa a damnosa hæreditas of the worst sort. And this would be by no means an absolutely safe assumption. However, the French themselves must be left to judge what is good for them. Formosa is "The Beautiful Island," and it is possible that M. Ferry has been reading in Goethe lately that the Beautiful includes the Good, in which case he would easily persuade himself that it would be an advantage to get possession of Formosa. But whatever the motives and whatever the policy of France may be at this time, it is easy to understand why she should desire peace, although we still find it hard to believe that the first proposals in that direction were made by her, as is reported in Hongkong to have been the case. If it be true, as the Pekin correspondent of the Times stated three weeks ago, that the French commanders declare that a force of forty thousand men would be required for an advance on Pekin, we can understand why no attempt has been made to march upon the capital. Whatever may be the truth as to the reports of French successes in Tongking, they have been purchased so dearly that it is just as much to the interest of France as to that of China that the quarrel should be ended. And if arguments in favour of peace could not be got from the scene of hostilities, they could be derived from a candid view of the state of the trade and finances of France at this time.

THERE is reason to believe that the cotton mills of Bombay might with advantage compare notes from time to time, so that each might profit by the experience of the others. Judging from the way in which they go on at present, each mill moves in an orbit of its own, irrespective of the others, and hence there is much divergence in their movements, leading, it must be feared, to much loss of power and waste of resources. Recently we showed in what proportion the earnings of the leading mills were divided between fixed capital and labour. It may be well now to show the amount of floating capital employed by these same mills in their current operations, and the results of such operations. The way in which the mill companies make up their accounts renders it very difficult to establish a common standard by which to judge of their working, but the following table as nearly as possible represents the results of the operations of the year which ended in some cases on the 31st December, 1883, in others on the 30th June, 1884.—

Mills.	Value of Cotton used.	Manufacturing charges, coals and stores.	Value of manufacture turned out.	Percentage of manufacture on value of cotton.	Percentage of manufacturing charges on every Rs. 100 of cotton.
—	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
Dhurumsy Mills	1,983,83	1,060,667	3,483,088	175	53
Petit Mills	2,786,93	1,268,791	5,085,458	182	45
Oriental	1,171,36	617,762	2,157,844	184	52
Alliance	535,49	140,552	866,182	163	26
Sassoons	1,355,69	582,442	2,496,980	184	43
Great Eastern	696,86	380,437	1,370,387	182	54
Central India	612,60	332,233	1,371,681	213	51
	9,172,01	4,382,884	16,831,620

These seven mills have a fixed capital of 199½ lakhs, or say close upon two crores; and over and above that, they have used during a twelvemonth a further capital of 135½ lakhs in purchasing cotton and in working it up into cloth and yarn. The total value of cloth and yarn turned out is 168½ lakhs, equal to a return of 124 per cent. on the outlay. This shows the magnitude of our staple industry; but when we come to examine the working of the mills separately, as revealed in the table, then we find that there is nothing like uniformity in their movements, but that each craft sails under its own rules of the road. Thus in respect of the quantity or value of the cotton used we find that the Dhurumsy with a fixed capital of 60 lakhs uses only 20 lakhs' worth of cotton, whereas the Petit Mills with only 40 lakhs of capital can use up fully 27¾ lakhs' worth of the raw material. Great as this disparity is, it is still greater in the case of the last three mills mentioned in the table. These three mills have each a fixed capital of 15 lakhs, yet the Sassoon Mills have worked up 13½ lakhs' worth of cotton, when the other two, namely, the Great Eastern and the Central, only used about half that amount. In the matter of gross outturn four of the mills which are known to be leading concerns show something like uniformity, but in their charges they part company, though there appears to be a method in their difference. Thus the Sassoon and the Petit Mills, with about an equal percentage of outturn, 184 and 182, show almost equal percentages of charges, viz., 43 and 45 per cent.; whereas the Oriental and the Great Eastern, though they turn out equal weight and value of manufacture with the preceding two mills, still show charges greater by 9 or 10 per cent. The Central, it will be seen, leads the way in respect of outturn, its total being 213 against 184, the maximum amongst the other six mills. Such a difference in the outturn appears phenomenal, and is worth inquiring into in the interest of the other concerns. The Central is a mofussil factory, located in a district noted for its longstaple cotton, the Hinganghaut variety, in the working of which the loss by waste is not so great as in the case of mixed cotton, which the other six mills of the Presidency town are, perforce, obliged to use. Moreover, using the cotton in the country of its growth, there is a further saving in transit charges. The manufacturing charges, however, of the Central are on a par with the maximum of the Bombay mills. We have only indicated some of the points which invite inquiry and examination. But a study of the working of the mills as evidenced in the table will show where there is room for improvement, where for retrenchment, and how a maximum of result could be secured with a minimum of outlay in respect of first cost and working charges.

"YOU cannot make the State a parent without the logical consequence of making the people children." This is the best thing that Mr. Auberon Herbert says in a long letter the public has been favoured with. He regretted that a call for money is likely to be made shortly by H. H. the Maharajah for railway purposes. The estimated amount of this loan is 60 lakhs, bearing interest, as I assume, at the rate of five per cent., as in the case of the original loan.

Writing of these State loans, it is hardly possible to miss being reminded of the fiscal tension affecting the Mysore Exchequer just now, to which public attention has been prominently drawn by the prospect of a season of drought that threatened us last month, but which has since been providentially averted, or at least minimised, by tolerably copious showers that have fallen in the "very nick of time." Though the Dewan has been called upon to a surplus, there is virtually no appreciable improvement in the normal revenue, which practically amounts to only 104½ lakhs, though nominally reckoned at Rs. 106,35,179 owing to two or three exceptional realizations which are not likely to recur in future years. The policy of reducing expenditure has been pushed to the utmost limit, and there is little room left for further curtailment, while to reckon on increased collections is equally out of the question. There is hardly a single item of revenue that is capable of expansion, if we except land and, perhaps, proceeds from the sale of sandalwood, which is a State monopoly. These are the two sources upon which the Government rely for the maintenance of the revenue at the normal figure of 104½ lakhs; and I should go without saying that, what with the depressing effects of delayed rains and the prevalence of cattle-disease, there can be little room for any sure prospect of anything like steady, much less enhanced,

TELEGRA

THE FRANCO-CHINESE WAR.

FRENCH OVERTURES OF PEACE.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

COLOMBO, Nov. 10.

From Hongkong comes China news up to the 28th ult. Little change in the state of affairs is reported. The French Minister has made overtures of peace, by which China, without money payment, would make over Formosa to France for fifty years, with right to construct railways and to retain the customs revenues. A twenty years' offer was declined.

Admiral Courbet has made no move beyond seizing the Kelung coal-mines. He wants reinforcements and supplies of all kinds. He has 3,000 troops, while the Chinese have 15,000. He requires ten thousand troops to hold all the Formosan ports and towns.

The Chinese army has been joined by large bodies of hill-men, untrained but brave. They do not fear the French.

The ports in the south of Formosa are well constructed and armed with heavy English guns, but the Chinese have no supplies, and very little money for paying the troops, and food is growing scarce.

Two cargoes consisting of arms and stores were lately landed by British steamers which evaded the French cruisers during hazy weather. At Kelung and Tamsui vessels with cargoes are not allowed to enter, and are warned off by French cruisers.

The British Admiral has protested to Admiral Courbet against the search of English vessels when no war has been declared.

The French troops are badly supplied with ammunition, and their defeat at Tamsui on the 8th Oct. was owing to the ammunition running short, no reserve supplies having been landed.

In Tongking there has been fresh fighting. The Chinese from the Yunnan frontier marched to the south and attacked the French. A severe engagement ensued, the details of which are not yet known, but heavy losses are reported on both sides.

There is much sickness among the French troops. The wounded soldiers are suffering from gangrene.

At Shanghai, Foochow, and Chung-hai the populations are quiet, but the soldiery in the north are troublesome. There are large bodies of troops around Pekin and Nanking.

Great preparations are going on for the defence of the northern territory against French invasion.

In the spring the Viceroy Li will take command of the army of defence. He is confident of success.

Frost has appeared in the north, and a severe winter is probable.

At Wenchow there has been a disturbance. It was settled by the payment of compensation to Europeans, amounting to 35,000 dollars for damage done to property.

Trade is dull at all ports.

FALLING OFF IN THE CHINA TEA TRADE.

The tea season is nearly over. The shipments to Great Britain are twelve million pounds below those of last year, and to America five millions less.

LORD GARMOYLE.

Lord Garmoyle is at Hongkong.

AN ENGLISH WHALER BOARDED BY A RUSSIAN CORVETTE.

A Russian corvette, in the Siberian sea, has boarded a British whaler and seized all the arms found, and warned the captain off the coast.

THE LORD MAYOR'S BANQUET.

LONDON, Nov. 11.

The Lord Mayor's Banquet took place at Guildhall last night. Mr. Gladstone was not present. Earl Granville, in his speech on the occasion, intimated the willingness of the Government to mediate between France and China. His lordship said he hoped Lord Wolseley would, besides relieving General Gordon, leave a stable government in the Soudan. The report of Lord Northbrook on his mission to Egypt had not yet been discussed by the Cabinet, and it was therefore impossible at present to make any statement thereanent. In conclusion, his lordship said that if the Tories formulated a scheme for the redistribution of seats, the Government would modify theirs in accordance with it.

PROSPECTS OF PEACE BETWEEN FRANCE AND CHINA.

Persistent rumours are current that peace negotiations have been opened between France and China, and that France has consented to forego the indemnity she has claimed from China.

THE FRANCHISE BILL.

The Commons have passed the Franchise Bill through Committee. An amendment brought forward by Stanley, postponing the operation of the Bill until the Bill for the redistribution of seats was passed, was negatived, by 194 to 109 votes.

THE MADRAS GOVERNMENT.

A discussion took place in the House of Lords last night relating to the annual transport of the Madras Government to the hills, the majority favouring the continuance of the present system.

THE Earl and Countess of Dufferin leave London for Bombay in the P. and O. Company's steamer Tasmania to-day. The Tasmania is one of the fastest of the company's steamers, and may be expected to arrive in Bombay about the 8th prox. Mr. Mackenzie Wallace and Mr. McFerran, His Excellency's private secretaries, will be passengers in the same steamer.

THE designs for the new Municipal Offices and Hall will be on view at the Municipal Office to-day from three o'clock to seven, and on subsequent days from ten o'clock each morning. Members of the Corporation will be admitted without tickets; but all others will be required to first procure cards of admission from the Municipal Commissioner, for which application should be made to the custodian.

GENERAL SIR JOHN ROSS returns to India next week.

A MIXED committee will commence its sittings at Pangim on the 15th with a view to carrying out the modifications recommended by the Lisbon Conference in the revision of the Anglo-Portuguese treaty.

THE Rev. W. S. Tisdell, M.A., of the University of New Zealand, is on his way to join the Punjab Mission of the Church Missionary Society. He is the first clergyman from Australasia who has offered himself for missionary work in India.

THERE has been another disturbance in Agrore. The Chigarzais attacked the village of Dilbori in Agrore on the 5th instant, but were beaten off by the villagers, who, with the slight fortifications lately constructed, are now more than a match for their enemies, and can quite repel an attack, by night or day. This affair seems to have been attended with some loss on both sides. The garrison of Oghi has been strengthened, as a temporary measure, in consequence of this renewal of disturbances.

DR. SCHLICH, Inspector-General of Forests, under the Government of India, goes home to organize a Forest Class at Cooper's Hill College. The work will probably keep Dr. Schlich in England for a year or two, during which time Mr Ribbenthrop, Conservator of Forests in the Punjab, will act for him.

THE following were the balances held in cash in the Civil Treasuries of the Government of India and at credit of Government in the Presidency Banks and their branches on the last day of October:—1882, Rs. 11,93,82,000; 1883, Rs. 11,42,27,000; 1884, Rs. 9,45,06,000.

MR. EDMUND WHITE, C.S., a first-grade Joint-Magistrate, will succeed Mr. R. T. H. Griffith, M.A., as Director of Public Instruction, North-West Provinces, when the latter retires from the service in the spring.

THE Allahabad paper has just discovered, much to its consternation, that fish maws and sharks' fins are imported in considerable quantities to India, and it betrays a good deal of nervous anxiety when it asks who are the people who eat the fish offal of Indian waters. Last year these delicacies found their way to India to the value of Rs. 3,84,693. It is reassuring to find, however, that they were largely re-exported, and the Pioneer may derive consolation from the probability that the Chinese, who highly esteem fish maws and sharks' fins, still enjoy their monopoly of nastiness.

IT has been left to private efforts to reduce the voluminous reports of the Education Commission to something like modest proportions. Few people can spare the time to read, mark, learn, and inwardly digest the report of the Commission with the ten supplementary volumes, and no doubt many will be glad of the "Abstract and Analysis" of the report which the Rev. J. Johnstone, of Glasgow, has been at some trouble to prepare. Mr. Johnstone himself is credited with holding strong views upon the present educational policy in India, which he is not at all careful to conceal—the views of the missionary school: and his work will probably supply the text for many a future homily. But the actual analysis of the report seems to be well and fairly done.

THE use of registered documents is turned to account in many curious ways in Bengal, some of which can hardly be regarded as binding or legal. In the Hazaribagh district the proverb of the borrower being servant to the lender is literally fulfilled by a deed being registered in which service is agreed upon in lieu of interest. The wages of service hardly ever exceed the rate of interest, so that only in a few cases is the principal paid off, and the executants thus render themselves bondslaves for life, and frequently bind their heirs and successors as well. A deed of a peculiar nature was also lately registered by some Moulvis who agreed to dispute whether a certain religious practice was in accordance with the Sharas. The vanquished party were to pay Rs. 500 to the victors and to become their disciples. The precedent of settling matters of religious belief by the novel mode of human arbitration was, however, not established owing to the absence of umpires. Another case, and perhaps the most rash of all, was that in which a husband executed an agreement in favour of his wife to the effect that he would never use violence upon her, nor abuse or beat her. In case of infringement of his agreement he would be liable to lose his right in her as wife.

SCHOOLMASTERS of the local service who are now serving with British troops in India have been declared ineligible for the benefits conferred by clause 9 of the India Army Circular of February last, which sanctioned the conversion of the English pay of British soldiers into Indian currency at the rate of exchange fixed for the payment of troops serving in the colonies, this rate of exchange for the current official year being 1s. 8d. the rupee. The reason for this distinction is that the schoolmasters abovementioned elected for the old or Indian rates of pay many years ago, and that the changes which have since been made in the pay of British soldiers and trained schoolmasters of the British service have not affected the pay of the schoolmasters of the local service, which is fixed at higher rates than are admissible to schoolmasters of the local service. The latter class will therefore continue to receive the equivalent of their English pay at the exchange of 2s. 0½d. the rupee.

THE advocates of teetotalism will find little to encourage them in the excise returns of Bengal. The total number of licences, wholesale and retail, granted during last year in Bengal for the sale of imported wines was 999 against 941 in the previous year, while the revenue rose from Rs. 1,94,090 to Rs. 2,00,795. The quantity of foreign wines, spirits, and beer imported and the customs revenue realised therefrom were—in 1882-83, 508,076 gallons, revenue Rs. 31,881; in 1883-84, 601,404 gallons, revenue Rs. 37,598. It is remarked that the demand for claret in this country is declining; that as regards sherry, the public taste has followed the lead of England, where the trade has suffered severely; that champagne has recovered the decline of the previous year; that there has been a continued falling off in the importations of brandy and gin; and that the importations of whisky, rum, beer, and porter have increased.

MR. LABOUCHERE, writing in Truth, professes to be "surprised at either India or Australia submitting to the prohibitive rates which are charged on cablegrams in order to pay a dividend on the watered capital of the Eastern Telegraph Company and its progeny. I should have imagined that the Australian Colonies and the Indian Government, being both able to borrow money at about 3½ per cent., would have had cables of their own connecting them with Europe."

THE newspapers at Pesth have for some days past discussed the existence of a widespread scandal in the police force, and have asserted that an understanding existed between the police officials and bands of thieves. Many arrests have already been made, including that of Detective Bleyer, who was entrusted with the discovery of the post robbery.

A NEW YORK paper states that Mr. Vanderbilt has lost eight millions sterling during the last two years, principally through the disastrous speculations of his two sons. The "Commodore" left one million sterling to Cornelius Vanderbilt, and £400,000 to William K. Vanderbilt; but as they did not find their incomes sufficient for their style of living, they went in heavily for stock speculations, and having lost continually, their father has been obliged to assist them. It is added that "Vanderbilt is abundantly able to pay, inasmuch as he still has £30,000,000 of his father's fortune to back him." Nevertheless, however, "he has lately been hardly pinched for ready cash."

BERLIOZ's autobiography will shortly be in the hands of the public. It is with the following strange phantasy that Berlioz closes his record of a long and active life:—

Which of the two powers, Love or Music, can elevate man to the sublimest heights? . . . It is a great problem, and yet it seems to me that this is the answer: "Love can give no idea of music; music can give no idea of love." Why separate them? They are the two wings of the soul. When I see the way in which certain people look on love, and what they seek in artistic creation, I am overwhelmed by pity mingled with rooting and grunting for truffles amongst the loveliest flowers or under the grandest trees. But I must try to think no more of art. . . . . Stella! Stella! I can now die without anger or bitterness.

THE immense destruction of trees in the United States, which has been so often commented on of late, formed the chief topic of discussion at the Forestry Congress which has just completed its session at Saratoga. The same causes which "made a desert of the fertile fields of Judæa" were at work, the speakers pointed out, in the States. The "hill lands" of New York, for instance, were covered forty years ago with forests, and the streams were then sweet and fresh, and fish grew to a good size. Now that the forests have largely disappeared the fish are little more than minnows, and streams that should run mills six months in the year will not now do so for four months. All the members of the Congress seemed to be agreed that this condition of things demanded the interference of the State. The particular proposal which met with most favour was that all lands regrown to forests should be exempted from taxation.

SINCE the Claimant's incarceration nearly everything has been changed in the department of law. The released convict may wander hopelessly about Westminster, revisiting the scenes of his former experiences. Law, lawyers, law courts, everything has undergone alteration. There are, however, two little monuments of the great Tichborne trial which will keep its memory green so long as the dining-hall of William Baffin retains the approach to the English House of Parliament. Entering Westminster Hall by the great portal, and turning sharply to the right, there will be seen in the Yorkshire flagging two or three square holes, now stopped up with lead. These were punched into the stone to hold the supports of the railing by which the mob were kept off when it surged round the door into the Court of Queen's Bench during the last days of the trial at bar. It is the curious irony of fate that these should be, perhaps, the most durable mementoes of the great Tichborne trial.

MDME. SARAH BERNHARDT is, by the latest accounts, seriously ill; and one can well understand that such an impulsive and excitable woman may, after her numerous and highly varied adventures, be suffering from "nervous exhaustion." On the occasion of her first visit to London she held a reception, at which from an early hour in the forenoon until the approach of evening she conversed incessantly with all who were presented to her; and the list of presentations included a good many notabilities, political as well as literary and theatrical, with Mr. Gladstone prominent among them At the close of her last visit but one, she did something still more astonishing; for on the last day of her engagement at the Gaiety Theatre she played "Fédora" in the afternoon and "Fédora" in the evening; after which she went to the New Club and gave a representation of Scribe's "Valérie," which, beginning at half-past twelve, did not finish until half-past three. Nor was this all; for, not many hours after the conclusion of "Valérie," she started for Boulogne, where the same evening she had once more to appear as "Fédora." More than once in the course of her Russian and American tours she has been carried fainting from the stage; and often in impersonating Marguerite Gautier in "La Dame aux Camélias" she has been almost as ill as in a dramatic sense she was supposed to be.

MRS. KENDAL has recently been interviewed about her famous paper on the morality of the stage by a representative of the Christian Commonwealth, who has visited other actors and actresses also, "in order to elicit their opinion on the morality of their profession." The undertaking would have been a delicate one in any case, but it will be better understood what enterprise is required of the interviewer when we add that the Christian Commonwealth had previously remarked, by way of putting the case "in its mildest form," that the majority of actors and actresses "literally welter in immorality." Some amends, however, are made for this uncharitable judgment by the tabular statement now presented. Of actresses, considerably more than 50 per cent., it has been learned, are virtuous and exemplary in their domestic relations, while some (percentage not stated) are absolutely "patterns." With regard to actors, the information to hand is not so precise; but we are assured in general terms that actors would bear as close a scrutiny into character as any other men who are "not specifically religious." It is pointed out that drunkenness is very rare in the profession; for managers would "not tolerate a drunken actor for a single night." Unfortunately (says a home paper) there are other vices which are not equally fatal to professional success; on the contrary, a piece of private scandal is quite as good an advertisement to an actress as a piece of fine acting. In spite of the ridicule to which Mrs. Kendal's paper has exposed her, she did well to call attention to this discreditable, but indisputable, fact.

MILITARY NEWS.

IT having been brought to notice that much inconvenience is caused by officers making excessive demands for forms on the contractor for printing Government of India stock forms, the Commander-in-Chief is pleased to direct that not more than one year's supply should be indented for at one time.

ON the subject of Staff Corps retirements "Field Officer" writes to the Pioneer from England:—"X, on the 7th July, 1884, writes, suggesting that one of them should apply to be allowed to remain at home on furlough pay of his rank until he was entitled to such pension as would enable him to retire, or until he had become entitled to his Colonel's allowances. The reply, he suggests, would settle the matter one way or another. But what could be the furlough pay of his rank? If only the half of Rs. 827-14-0, at the present miserable rate of exchange, he could only starve on it. If Government would give the half of Rs. 1,032-4 (which local officers and General List officers are entitled to) at 2s. for the rupee, perhaps a few officers would accept it, instead of doing subaltern's duties after promotion to the rank of Field Officer."

THE Indian Government steamer Tenasserim, Captain W. C. Hotham, will sail for Madras and Rangoon on the 15th instant, with the following details:—For Madras.—9 European rank and file of 4-1 Royal Artillery, and 30 European rank and file of 6-1 Royal Artillery. For Rangoon.—4 officers, 1 lady, 158 rank and file, 1 woman, 2 children, and 1 follower of 2nd Battalion Somersetshire Light Infantry. The following are the names of officers:—Lieut. and Mrs. R. L. Payne, Lieut. G. H. Couchman, Lieut. F. A. Morse, and Lieut. W. N. R. Bates, 2nd Battalion Somersetshire L. I.

TELEGRAPHIC WEATHER REPORT.

SIMLA, Nov 11.—The barometric decrease which commenced in parts of Northern India yesterday has since become general. The change is greatest in the Punjab, and from the wind directions at Peshawur, Murree, and Sialkot there apparently exists a small area of relatively low pressure to the southward of those stations. In consequence the high pressure area has moved southward, and now lies over Lower Sind, Northern Gujarat, and Southern Rajputana. The lowest reading is reported from Rutnagherry. The wind has shifted to the south-eastward in the Northern Punjab, to the west at Karwar, and to the south at Mangalore. Elsewhere there is little change. The temperature has fallen very generally. The sky is clear in most parts of Northern and North-Western India. It is cloudy in Assam, Lower Bengal, and the Peninsula. Rain has fallen in most parts of Madras and Mysore. Rain to-day:—Coimbatore, 2 inches; Cuddapah, Wellington, and Mercara, 1 inch; Masulipatam and Mangalore, ½ inch. Previously, Nellore had 5 inches; Negapatum, 2 inches; Calicut, ⅔ inch.

THE MEETING OF THE BHATTIA COMMUNITY.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "BOMBAY GAZETTE."

SIR,—We are instructed by Mr. Lakmidass Khemjee to draw your attention to an incorrect statement concerning himself contained in your report of the proceedings of a meeting held at Kandavei on Sunday, the 9th instant, which appears in your columns to-day. It is alleged in the report that handbills signed by Mr. Lakmidass Khemjee and a few others were distributed at the meeting. This allegation is altogether incorrect and without any foundation. Mr. Lakmidass has not issued any handbill with reference to the meeting in question or the resolutions said to have been passed thereat, and no hand-bills with his signature were distributed at the meeting or elsewhere.

Our client considers that the mistake has probably arisen from confounding his name with the name of Mr. Lakmidass Bhemjee, another member of the Hallai Bhattia Mahajan.

We are therefore instructed to request you to publish this letter in your paper to-morrow, so as to give to this correction the same publicity which you have given to the statement referred to.—Yours faithfully,

JEFFERSON, BHAISHANKER, & DINSHAW.

DISORDERLY BEHAVIOUR DURING THE MOHORRUM.—At the Fort Police Court yesterday, before Mr. Cooper, Mahomed Hoosein was charged with disorderly behaviour during the Mohorrum. CHARGED WITH SWINDLING.

BEFORE Mr. Cooper at the Fort Police Court yesterday, Gunga Parsad, senior partner in a firm named R. K. Mookerjee and Co., sleeper contractors, was charged with cheating by his late manager Mohun Chunder Halder, a Baboo. The latter, it seems, had been a clerk once, and having lost his employment was for a long time seeking one. On the 7th of July last he read in the advertisement column of a small Bengali paper published in Calcutta the following:—"Wanted, accountants and clerks on cash security of Rs. 1,000, on a pay of Rs. 40 per mensem." This advertisement was signed by the accused's firm. The complainant eagerly replied to the advertisement, and duly received an answer directing him to forward his cash security of Rs. 1,000, when he would receive an order appointing him as accountant. About the middle of August the complainant forwarded one half note of the amount, and when its receipt was acknowledged despatched the other half. In course of time he was directed to come to Bombay, which he did. Soon after his arrival here he was despatched to Kurrachee, to take charge of the branch firm there. To his surprise, however, he found that no such firm existed at Kurrachee. He accordingly telegraphed to the accused, informing him that he was returning to Bombay. When he arrived here he searched for the accused, but not finding him he obtained a summons, and the accused was discovered by the police.

In his defence the accused stated that the complainant had by a written agreement consented to forfeit his security if he in any way acted contrary to the orders of his employers. He was sent to Kurrachee, but returned without permission.

The complainant called no witnesses, and as the accused was willing to return the money the case was dismissed.

THE SUPPOSED MURDER OF A DANCING GIRL.

THE following evidence was recorded by the Coroner, Dr. Blaney, on Monday evening at the inquest held at the J. J. Hospital, on the body of Fazle Neesa, a dancing girl, who, it is believed, was poisoned.

Ramjan Roodoo said he was a musician, and lived with his sister, the deceased, at Bhendy Bazaar-road. About 6 p. m. on Sunday deceased, the witness, his younger brother Ailbux, his niece Begum, and two other Mahomedans were seated in the front room of his house, when a man named Shaik Ahmed came and sat down in the room. Two minutes afterwards Peera Dutta, a fiddler, came into the room with a paper packet in his hand, and sat down. As soon as he sat down he placed the packet in front of Shaik Ahmed and told him that it contained an offering to a saint, and asked him to pray over it. Witness saw that the packet contained native sweetmeat. There were about twenty pieces of sweetmeat in the packet. Shaik Ahmed said a prayer over the sweetmeat, and then he took a piece, but did not eat it. Peera Dutta distributed the remainder among those present. Deceased was the last to receive her share. Witness's hands were smeared with oil, so he did not at once eat the sweetmeat; but all the rest did. While engaged in eating, she said she felt something hard in her mouth, like a stone, and she gave the remainder of her sweetmeat to witness, and asked him to eat it and tell her what it contained. Witness ate a little more, and found it to be bits of bone. Ailbux, who ate a little, and gave the remainder to Peera Dutta, asking him to eat it. Peera refused; saying he was not in the habit of eating sweetmeat. He returned it. Ailbux ate it. Shortly after, Peera and Shaik Ahmed left the house. They were in the house only ten minutes. The deceased ate or drank nothing after the sweetmeat; but in a quarter of an hour she complained of pain in the throat. She became unwell. Witness put her into a rekla, and took her to a hakeem, who advised him to take her to a police chowkey. Witness took her to the Nowroji police station, and the police sent deceased to hospital. The witness became ill at the police station, and was also removed to hospital. He was discharged from hospital at 7 a. m. on Monday, quite well; but the deceased died at 11-30 on Sunday night. Before witness went for a rekla to take deceased to a hakeem, Ailbux also became unwell.

At this stage the inquest was adjourned for further inquiry to the 29th inst.

SMALL CAUSE COURT.—Nov. 11.

(Before Mr. WARDEN, 3rd Judge.)

SHORT DELIVERY OF CARGO.

SIR EDWARD BATES AND CO AND OTHERS v.s. THOMAS R. WATSON.

THIS was an action to recover the sum of Rs. 457-14 from defendant as captain of the s.s. Bertha, being the value of 111 bundles of iron, and interest thereon, which he failed to deliver to the plaintiffs.

Mr. Smith, of Messrs. Little, Smith, Frere, and Nicholson, appeared for the plaintiffs; and Mr. Rustomjee Patel for the defendants.

Mr. Smith stated the particulars of the suit, which have already been reported in these columns.

Mr. Rustomjee contended on behalf of the defendant that there was no complete delivery of the iron to the authorities of the Prince's Dock, with the exception of two bundles; and under the bill-of-lading the defendant was discharged from all liability immediately the goods left the ship. Mr. Rustomjee then read two clauses from the bill-of-lading. There were 64 bundles of iron lying at present with the authorities at the Prince's Dock, and they had been offered for delivery. The dispute would then be as to the value of 47 bundles.

Mr. Smith said that they were not prepared to receive the 64 bundles, because they were only of half cwt. each.

Mr. Rustomjee said they were part of the consignment. There were the usual words appearing in the bill-of-lading: "weight and contents, value unknown;" and unless the plaintiffs sent a commission to England, and proved that amongst the bundles there were bundles which each weighed half a cwt. each, they would not be able to prove what the weight of each bundle should be. A simple statement in the bill-of-lading would be no evidence against the defendant. He also disputed the damages claimed by the plaintiffs, and the interest claimed on such damages.

His honour said that he never knew of interest being allowed on damages.

Mr. Rustomjee: he was not cognizant of the rules of the court. He knew that, however, interest was allowed in such cases in the High Court.

Mr. Rustomjee said that if the plaintiffs had applied to the Prince's Dock authorities for the remaining 47 bundles they would have been delivered. The defendant told the plaintiffs that they would have been paid the difference if they applied to the proper authorities, but they preferred litigation to pursuing such a course.

Mr. B. Nicholson, of the firm of Messrs. Edward Bates and Co., was examined. He proved the short delivery of 111 bundles. He said that the bundles of iron were landed in a mixed condition; the marks and sizes were different. The deficiency was discovered after the vessel had left. His firm offered to take delivery of the 64 bundles referred to by weight, but the offer was declined. The bundles of iron they took delivery of weighed one cwt. each. The exact weight of each bundle was not mentioned in the bill-of-lading, but only the gross weight

Tirumalrao Wyhan, a munshi in the office of Currumsey Damjee, said that he received on behalf of his firm 24,653 bars and bundles of iron from the s.s. Bertha, of which there were 23,040 bars and 1,492 bundles. According to the bill-of-lading there were 111 bundles short; according to the consignment there should have been 1,603 bundles. The bundles of iron that he received each weighed one cwt.

Oodoojee, a muccadum in the firm of Currumsey Damjee, said that he received 111 bundles of iron short of the consignment per s.s. Bertha on behalf of Edward Bates and Co. He refused to take delivery of certain bundles, as they weighed only half a cwt. each. The other bundles that he had taken delivery of weighed one cwt. each.

In cross-examination by defendant's counsel witness said that he took delivery of the bundles under instructions from his firm.

Dinanath Bujabah, a dealer in iron, said that he generally paid Rs. 28 per candy, on the 14th March last he purchased iron at Rs. 29-1-0 per candy. This would come to a little less than Rs. 4-4-0 per cwt.

In cross-examination witness said that he did not know the quality of iron by the English names, and never purchased iron from English firms.

Tyebjee Bhoimeah, a servant in the employ of Ramchunder Mahadoo, spoke to a number of bundles of iron per s.s. Bertha having been purchased by his master. Witness could not give the size of the iron in the bundles without referring to the books. Witness was ordered to produce his books, and the case was adjourned to Tuesday the 18th. inst.

MR. STANLEY ON THE CONGO.

MR. B. M. STANLEY, the African traveller, has been entertained at a déjeuner at Manchester, by Mr. Hutton, president of the Chamber of Commerce. The company included a large representation of the mercantile community. Afterwards, Mr. Stanley addressed a general meeting of the Chamber, at the Town-hall, and had a very cordial reception. He said that in August, 1877, when he first sighted the Lower Congo, there was a population there of nineteen Europeans—two English, two Dutch, one German, one Belgian, one Frenchman, and twelve Portuguese. The total number of Europeans on the Lower Congo at the present time was 163, of which number only 67 were Portuguese. On the Upper Congo there were 70 Europeans, against 233. The number had quadrupled since 1877. There were 186 Europeans as against 63 Portuguese, and yet both banks of the Congo were claimed by Portugal. While Portugal demanded customs, trade to the extent of £2,800,000 per annum had grown up at the mouth of the Congo, and there was an elastic and healthy tone in the trade which would last so long as no Power levied customs. (Hear, hear.) By arrangement with the natives, the traders paid already about 6 per cent. ad valorem duty, so that any demand which might be made by a foreign power on the pockets of the traders would be peculiarly injurious to the Congo. A foreign Power might be willing and ready to build customs houses and collect customs from the traders, but there was strong reason to doubt that they would be able to relieve the traders from the customs already collected by the natives. Supposing the Portuguese were to levy various duties and taxes to the amount of 42 per cent., there would be no treaty broken, but the elasticity of the Portuguese promises would have been only singularly illustrated and demonstrated anew. (Cheers.) Of £884,000 worth of goods imported by the traders on the Congo last year, £690,000 was the value of goods that came from England, and nothing came from Portugal, so far as he knew, except some Portuguese red wine for the use of the white men there. There might be some ardent Liberals present who were disposed to think that in criticising the Portuguese treaty he was adverse to the Government, but he begged them to abandon that idea. He thought Lord Granville had written the ideas of the International Association as well as of the English, European and American merchants in his letters to the Portuguese Minister for Foreign Affairs as clearly as though they had all met for the purpose of embodying their views in a report. The voice of Her Majesty's Government expressed such views as might have been advanced by a commercial body connected with the International Association, and could not have been expressed better. But what they had to regret was that such sentiments had produced such a vague, unsatisf
